The California

IS THE GENTEEL RESORT OF HONOLULU. . . . .

Its appointments are cleanly, and the service, under the masterly hands of Harry Knell, the well-known mixologist of San Francisco, who is a past-master in his art, and Bob McCord, who knows what will touch the Hawaiian heart, are so perfect that one has to accept the law as laid down by Solomon: "Let him drink and forget his poverty, and remember his misery no more."

After you have had your drink, turn to the home-like lunch table, and you will walk away murmuring: A "Volcano" lunch and a "California" punch, is a very, very hot touch. Mr. Vida and his staff are ever ready to greet you on Nuuanu, near King Street.

BOTHA IS REPORTED TO HAVE SURRENDERED

is declared he was proud of the Australians, whom he regarded as personal friends. New South Wales had every reason to be proud of her gallant troops, who had done more hard work and done it better than any other body of men engaged in the campaign.

Falling Back Before French.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The Boers under Commandant Lucas Meyer are retreating before General French and Colonel R. N. Ross into the Dongola bush on the Swaziland frontiers.

Mr. St. John Broderick, Secretary of State for War in the Commons, stated that of the Boer women detained in English camps those whose husbands were in command received reduced rations, while other women were on full rations.

In the House of Commons Mr. Broderick stated that 99 Courts of Enquiry had been held regarding 29 cases of British surrenders in South Africa, resulting in the dismissal or placing on half pay of 19 officers, and inflicting penalties on others. The cases involving court-martial would be made public.

Drove Off Besiegers.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—A force of New Zealanders in Zeerust, in the Western Transvaal, shelled the Boers southwards of the town and compelled them to remove their laagers. They also captured some cattle.

The garrison of Zeerust, which has been frequently threatened by large sections of the enemy, has succeeded in erecting bomb proofs for the entrenchments and entanglements to guard the approaches to the town.

The others at Pietersburg, the terminus of the railway north of Pretoria, are running trains southwards as far as Warmbaths, watching for an opportunity to destroy the railway bridge across the Pienaar River, and thus cripple the operations of the expedition now organizing at Pretoria for the subjugation of the Northern Transvaal.

Kruger has been informed that one of his grandsons (Piet Kruger), and a son-in-law (Commandant Malon), both serving with De la Rey's commando, were recently killed in an engagement in the Rustenburg district, west of Pretoria.
