NOT REVENGEFUL.

The Advertiser is greatly mistaken when it says that the Hawaiians and their friends are prompted by a feeling of revenge in urging that the Territory shall be governed by the people. It throws out the empty threat that the next Congress will amend the laws governing the suffrage here after the first experience of a territorial Legislature. It is safe to say that no Congress will ever take such a step and that there will never be any excuse or reason for adopting a measure of such an un-American nature.

It is true that the majority of voters at the next election will not be favorable to the men who set them a bad example through perjury, corruption and nepotism. There is no doubt that the men who took an active part in crushing the Hawaiians, in depriving them of the independence of their country, of their flag, of their very existence as a nation will have an up hill fight if they desire to regain their supremacy or even prestige in political matters, but there will be no question of revenge; there will be no call for official scalps where an incumbent of an office gave satisfaction to the public.

We do not presume that we voice the people at large, but we believe that the majority of the men who will cast their ballots sympathize with our views, conservative as they may appear to many of those who feel injured and insulted. Remember well that in 1893 there was no mercy, no consideration shown to the men who stood by their fealty to the lawful Government and to their oath. Ruthlessly they were driven out of office without excuse, and without reason but simply because Dr. C. B. Wood appeared on the platform and cried out "rub it in," "rub it in!" He was ably supported by a clique, headed by one Walter G. Smith whose motto was: "Turn the rascals out, turn them out!"

And yet these men come forward and enter a "kick" against some of the sufferers who in the cause of natural excitement may say "let us retaliate." The ruling element of what now is the opposition, will have nothing to do with revenge. The want to see Hawaii and every man living here prosper and the methods to be adopted will be according to our views of what is best for all, and irrespective of old scores to be settled. The rub-it-in policy is not on our platform. We leave that to Dr. Wood and his rub-it-in on the surplus.

A Japanese runaway was stopped this morning when the horse ran into the Occidental Hotel, the driver and the seat thrown into the sidewalk and buried in the contents of the swillbarrows which were on the old cart.

Mr. Armstrong Smith, the efficient educator and principal of the Kaiulani school has tendered his resignation which has been accepted with deep regret and with many flattering remarks from the Board of Education. Mr. Armstrong Smith will go abroad and study medicine.

Where's Honolulu?

Dan Mackerzie, the well known carpenter and contractor, returned by the Australia after a prolonged visit to the Coast. Dan was puzzled when he walked through the streets and did not see the old landmarks but only fences and new buildings.

Mae looked puzzled and decided to walk into the Hackfeld premises and he ran into a board fence. He sighed, walked up Fort street to see E. O. Hall & Son and he bumped his head against a fence. He pinched himself thinking that he was asleep and steered along Fort street for May's store. He found a fence and became pensive. He thought it would be wise perhaps to call at one of the express companies on King street, to get a conveyance in which to carry his whirling brains, and he found a pile of bricks, an empty lot and a fence. Getting desperate he decided to take something and he rushed towards the good, old Pantheon corner. When he found a fence there instead of the genial features of old friends he sat himself down and watched the people passing by. Not one of the hurrying crowd did he know, until at last a familiar face bobbed up and, bailing him he cried, "Tom, where is Honolulu?" and the answer came short and quick, "Honolulu is about Liliha street;" and Tom hurried on his way while Dan wept.

Parker's Horses.

Prince David and Colonel Parker were seen in their sanctum sanctorum this morning and were elated over the fine appearance of the horses which arrived by the Australia. Colonel Parker stated that as far as the racing part is concerned the Prince will have to take the responsibility, he purchased the horses in New York for services at his ranch and, as a matter of fact, they would have been there long ago if it had not been for the quarantine.

Prince David admitted that he thought it would be interesting to have the horses entered at the June 11 meeting, and he did not deny that Cormorant will arrive here by the next Australia, ready to see Venus or any other speedy local horse.

The Parker-Kawanaukoa string is composed of Weller, Sarcasm, Easter Tide, and Vioris. With Cormorant to be added it is a rather lively set to be met by our local stables.

Colonel Parker says that his trainer considers our track in excellent condition as compared with the New York tracks, but at the same time the Colonel Samuel expressed the his willingness to urge the Jockey Club to go to work at once to make all necessary repairs.

NOTICE

Metropolitan Meat Co

IT IS OUR INTENTION TO inaugurate a new system in the delivery of meat to our customers.

As you are aware, it has been the custom in Honolulu for years past (a custom born of the pre-refrigerator days) to have the meat cut up during the night and delivered early each morning. In many ways this system has proved unsatisfactory, and we have therefore determined to try day-time delivery instead.

It is proposed to have in some parts of the city, two deliveries per day, one in the morning, with meat for lunch or dinner, the other in the afternoon, when meat for dinner, or breakfast the following morning, can be sent. Orders will be taken by telephone each evening as at present and before 12 noon for the afternoon delivery. This system will also give householders an opportunity of coming to the market to select their own cuts, which can be sent out on the afternoon delivery.

It is also hoped that it may be possible under this system and by making a late delivery on Saturday afternoon to do away with Sunday work, which has always been an objectionable feature of the old method.

As we are desirous of giving satisfaction to our customers in every way, we hope that they will be willing to give the proposed system a fair trial, as we believe that when it is perfected it will be found to work to their benefit as well as our own. We shall start our first daily delivery on Monday next, April 16th.

Yours respectfully,
METROPOLITAN MEAT CO,
G. J. WALLER,
Manager.
