

HOW TO SERVE WINE.

RED WINES, especially Claret and Burgundy, should be served at a temperature of at least 95°, though 70° or 75° will be found as good, if not better. Never serve them cold, as chilling lowers the bouquet and ruins the flavor. Rhine Wines, Sauternes, etc., should be chilled in the bottle, never by placing ice in the glass. Sweet Wines should be served at cellar temperature, say from 50° to 60°.
